

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/znghcxs/articles/z78nydm#z2dsvw>
X

Multiple-Choice Questions

1. What is a network?
 - A) A type of computer
 - B) A group of connected people or items
 - C) A storage device
 - D) A software program
2. Which of the following is an example of a computer network?
 - A) A single computer
 - B) Two or more connected computers
 - C) A mobile phone
 - D) A printer
3. What is the role of servers in a network?
 - A) Connect cables
 - B) Store files
 - C) Control internet access
 - D) Provide power
4. What does a switch do in a network?
 - A) Prints documents
 - B) Stores information
 - C) Sends information to the right place
 - D) Connects devices to the internet
5. How do some computers connect to a network?
 - A) With an ethernet cable
 - B) Through a hard drive
 - C) Using software
 - D) By using a projector
6. What is a LAN?
 - A) A local area network
 - B) A wide area network
 - C) A personal area network
 - D) A type of server
7. Which of the following describes a PAN?
 - A) Connects multiple networks in different locations
 - B) Connects personal devices like Bluetooth headphones
 - C) Used in large hospitals
 - D) Allows sharing information among many computers
8. What allows access to a printer on a network?
 - A) Being connected to a single computer
 - B) All devices on the network being connected to it
 - C) Being a wireless printer
 - D) Only using a cable

9. What is a benefit of being connected to a network?

- A) Only one device can access the information
- B) Information can be shared among different devices
- C) External storage is required
- D) Connection speed is reduced

10. What is the internet in terms of networks?

- A) A storage device
- B) A local area network
- C) The network of networks
- D) Software for sharing files